Final arguments will be made to Bulger jury today

Whitey trial. Closing arguments will take place today in the case against the alleged mob boss.

After weeks of testimony, scores of witnesses and hundreds of evidence exhibits, the trial of James "Whitey" Bulger is coming to a close.

Lawyers representing the mobster and the government will give their closing arguments to the jury today.

Bulger on Friday opted not to take the witness stand but spoke in court, calling the proceedings a "sham" and saying he was forced into silence by the judge's ruling that prevented him from raising an immunity defense during the trial.

Jurors today will first hear from Assistant U.S. Attorney Fred Wyshak, who said he plans to use nearly three hours to tell the jury why the weeks of testimony and evidence should lead them to find Bulger guilty of crimes including racketeering, extortion and 19 murders.

Bulger's lawyers J. W. Carney Jr. and Hank Brennan will then split their three hours of closing arguments.

Quoted

"I've been choked off from getting the opportunity to give an adequate defense."

James Bulger, telling the court why he chose not to testify.

The defense rested on Friday after calling multiple former FBI agents and even confessed killer and Winter Hill Gang member John Martorano. Carney questioned Martorano about how fellow mobster Stephen Flemmi told Martorano that he killed Debra Davis.

Her murder is one that Bulger is charged with committing.

After the defense closing arguments, Wyshak will have a brief rebuttal argument before the end of the day.

On Tuesday, Judge Denise Casper will then give the 18 jurors their instructions, which she said should take about 90 minutes, before allowing them to begin their deliberations.

While the trial days have mostly lasted until 1 p.m., the jury will deliberate for full days until they return a verdict.

Speaking to reporters on Friday, Carney said he and Brennan would be working throughout the weekend to prepare for today.

"Attorney Brennan and I are likely to spend virtually all our waking moments from now until Monday morning at 9 o'clock focusing on our closing argument trying to marshall the evidence to show the jury as best we can what our view of the case is," Carney said.

Red Sox owner buys Boston Globe

Principal Red Sox owner John Henry scooped up the Boston Globe from the New York Times for $70 million, the newspaper announced Saturday.

The sale represents a staggering drop in price. The Times bought the paper in 1993 for $1.1 billion and sold the Globe to focus on its core product,Times president Mark Thompson said in a statement.

Responding to concerns that the Sox owner might bias coverage of the beloved Boston team, Henry told the Boston Herald doing so would diminish the value of both institutions. METRO

Sex offender arrested in child prostitution case

Footman / SEX OFFENDER REGISTRY

Police arrested a Level 3 sex offender Saturday on numerous charges, including recruiting a 15-year-old Boston girl for prostitution.

Troy Footman, 52, was charged with sex trafficking of a minor, failing to register as a sex offender and traffic violations, Boston Police said.

He was previously charged with aggravated rape and was convicted of other charges related to pimping and inducing minors into prostitution, the sex offender registry indicates. Boston Police in search of the missing girl learned she was being exploited at Cheaters Strip Club in Providence, and arrested Footman. METRO

Fire. Brighton mother to be charged with arson and attempted murder

A 49-year-old Brighton mom will be charged with arson and attempted murder after she allegedly set fire to an apartment building where her daughter and a young man were sleeping, according to the Boston Globe. Fire officials said the woman will be arraigned today in Boston District Court. Authorities said the one-alarm blaze started in the hallway on the third floor of the three-story building, trapping the daughter and friend inside. METRO

NEED TICKETS? BE CAREFUL

Some of my favorite bands are coming to Boston this fall, but tickets are expensive. I was thinking of buying them off of Craigslist, but heard it was a bad idea. What's your advice?

Ticket retailers like Ticketmaster and Live Nation will sell you tickets at the face-value price every time.

These vendors may add on some processing fees to your purchase, but you are guaranteed to receive your ticket.

Be cautious if you are looking at tickets listed for sale on Craigslist or eBay. There is no guarantee that you will actually receive a ticket for your money and the price may be unreasonably marked up.

Licensed ticket resellers, like StubHub, guarantee you will get your ticket, but you may be paying a premium cost.

You can find more information on our recent investigation into ticket vendors on our website mass.gov/ocabr.

I'm moving into a new condo this September. Since the condo association already has insurance, do I really need my own condo insurance?

Condo associations may have master insurance policies that cover the entire building and its physical infrastructure.

Quoted

Be cautious if you are looking at tickets listed for sale on Craigslist or eBay.

But when you own a condominium, you are responsible for everything inside of it, including interior walls and fixtures as well as your own personal belongings.

You can protect the investment you've made in your condominium from damages due to theft, fire/water damage and other incidents that may happen with condo insurance.

Depending on the policy, condo insurance may even include coverage from liability if someone is hurt inside your condo.

Every policy varies by insurer, so make sure to read the fine print before signing.

DA: Rakes death not connected to Whitey

A Sudbury man is facing attempted murder charges in the poisoning death of Stephen "Stippo" Rakes, a former South Boston liquor store owner who was preparing to testify against James "Whitey" Bulger. William Camuti, 69, was arrested Friday after he allegedly lured Rakes into a McDonalds and served him ice coffee laced with cyanide, according to the Boston Globe. Camuti reportedly drove around for a few hours before dumping Rakes' body along a trail in Lincoln on July 17. METRO

You Don't Have to Live With Varicose Veins

Eliminate painful, unsightly varicose veins, skin changes or even ulcers with Endovenous Laser Therapy (EVLT).

Advantages of Endovenous Laser Therapy (EVLT):

- Relief of Symptoms and leg pain • Short procedure (15 minutes)
- No surgery • No down time • No general anesthesia
- No hospitalization required. The procedure is performed at our clinic
- Resumption of normal activities right away
- Covered by Medicare and most insurance plans

Do Not Postpone Treatment

Varicose veins can start out as a seemingly small problem, but left untreated, can become much more serious. Complications of varicose veins may include ulcers. These may form on the skin near the affected veins, particularly near the ankles.

They are caused by fluid build-up in the dysfunctional veins and can be extremely painful.

Dysfunctional veins can also increase the risk of blood clots. Patients may experience a swelling in the leg, which may indicate a blood clot. Left untreated, these clots can travel through the bloodstream and lodge near the heart or lungs, causing potentially life-threatening health problems.

If you have already decided you'd like to receive vein treatments or would like to get a diagnosis, simply schedule an appointment with USA Vein Clinics today by calling (617) 858-6870.

US lawmaker says the al Qaeda threat at its most serious in years

The al Qaeda threat that closed U.S. embassies in the Middle East yesterday is the most serious in years and the "chatter" among suspected terrorists is reminiscent of what preceded the Sept. 11, 2001, attacks, a lawmaker who is briefed on intelligence said.

The State Department closed 21 embassies and consulates and issued a worldwide travel alert warning Americans that al Qaeda may be planning attacks in August, particularly in the Middle East and North Africa. Some embassies and consulates in the Middle East will be closed through Aug. 10 due to caution.

"There is an awful lot of chatter out there," Senator Saxby Chambliss, a top Republican on the Senate Intelligence Committee, said on NBC's "Meet the Press."

He said the "chatter" — communications among terrorism suspects about the planning of a possible attack — was "very reminiscent of what we saw pre-9/11."

A National Security Agency surveillance program that electronically collects communications on cell phones and emails — known as intercepts — had helped gather intelligence about this threat, Chambliss said.

It was one of the NSA surveillance programs revealed by former spy agency contractor Edward Snowden to media outlets.

"If we did not have these programs, then we simply wouldn't be able to listen in on the bad guys," Chambliss said. REUTERS

Quoted

"Al Qaeda is in many ways stronger than it was before 9/11, because it's mutated and it spread and it can come at us from different directions. ... And al Qaeda in the Arabian Peninsula is probably the most deadly of all the al Qaeda affiliates."

U.S. Rep. Peter King

John Davidson says he likes to play "loveable conmen." / JOAN MARCUS

Definitely great, sort of powerful

Theater. Local actor John Davidson has a "Wicked" cool day job.

John Davidson is 71 years old, but that doesn't stop him from performing eight shows a week with the "Wicked" cast.

"Bottom line, at my age, I feel lucky to have a job," laughs Davidson, who plays the Wizard in the 10th anniversary of the very popular musical.

Unlike most of the characters in the show, audience members probably know that the Wizard isn't as "great and powerful" as he proclaims.

"People come to the show with some baggage," says Davidson. But he thinks that their preconceptions are a good thing. "People know the story, but there's freedom when playing this role. I don't have to be like the guy in the movie."

Davidson grew up outside of Boston in West Bridgewater and first appeared on Broadway in 1964. He went on to host a string of TV shows, including "Hollywood Squares," but he says theater is his first love.

"I was a theater arts major in college, and trained with good coaches. So I had the basics for a long career," he explains. "Maybe that's why I haven't burned out."

It also helps that Davidson is traveling the country for the "Wicked" tour in a comfortable RV. While performing in Boston, he'll be staked out on a campground outside the city with his wife and cat.

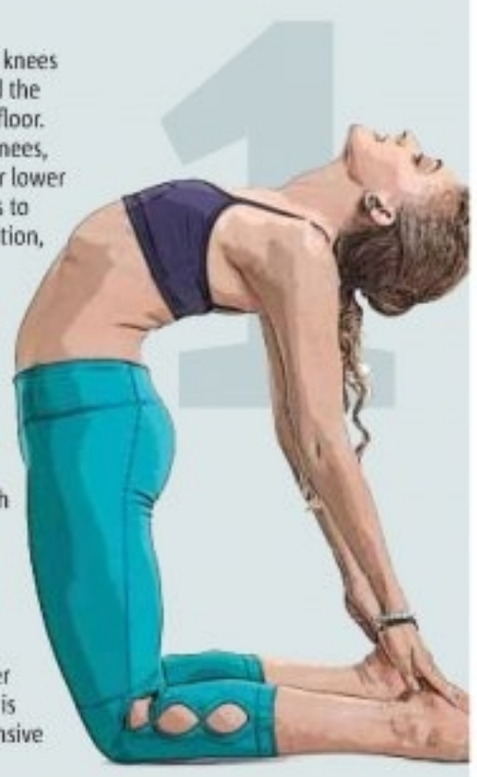
Jet lagged? Try this

"Stretch out the muscles that cramp up from sitting for too long and relieve the upper back from poor posture," says yogi Lisa Sanfilippo. ROMINA McGUINNESS

1 Camel

Begin by kneeling with your knees and feet hip-width apart and the tops of your feet flat on the floor. Keep your pelvis over your knees, your tailbone down and your lower belly lifted. Bring your hands to your heart in the prayer position, roll your shoulders back and hug your elbows in. Curl your chest open by kneeling back, but keep your hips over your knees. When you can't curl your chest back any farther, release your arms and grab your heels. You can also touch them with your fingertips. Hold for up to 30 seconds.

Sanfilippo: "You're working against gravity, opening up your shoulders and the upper part of the spine. Your chest is lifted, which feels very expansive in the lungs."



2 Legs up the wall

Begin seated, perpendicular to a wall. Bend your knees and lie back on the floor. Pivot your torso and extend your legs up the wall so your hips and the entire length of the back of your legs rest against the wall. You can use a strap to tie your feet together so your legs can relax even further. Let your arms rest next to you, palms up, or bend your elbows at right angles. You can stay in this pose anywhere from five to 15 minutes.

Sanfilippo: "This is suitable for all levels. Just getting your legs up the wall brings good oxygen flow into the lungs, into the throat, where the thyroid and the parathyroid are — both instrumental in the hormonal regulation of sleep."

3 Wild thing

Begin in downward-facing dog. Lift the right leg up into the air and rotate your hip open as you bend your knee. Pivot toward the outside edge of your left foot as you spiral your chest and pelvis to face the ceiling. Drop your right foot onto the floor behind you, landing on your foot or just the ball of your foot. Arch your chest and lift your right arm up. Extend it behind your head, with its inner side turning toward the floor. Lift your hips and let your head hang. Hold for up to 30 seconds. Return to downward-facing dog and repeat on the opposite side.

Sanfilippo: "You're balancing on your hands, and doing a backbend, which is both energizing and stabilizing."

Horoscope

♌ Leo | July 23-Aug. 22.
A disagreement with either a family member or a good friend needs to be settled as speedily as possible. If fences aren't mended quickly, a small rift could get much worse.

♍ Virgo | Aug. 23-Sept. 22.
If someone recently did something that you resent and you're still holding a grudge, you need to get over it. You need to let bygones be bygones and move on.

♎ Libra | Sept. 23-Oct. 22.
This is an good day to review how much time and money you've been spending on inessential items and activities. Once you identify the waste, you'll find ways to weed it out.

♏ Scorpio | Oct. 23-Nov. 21.
Objectives you set for yourself might not be easy to reach. If you're aware of this fact, you won't be inclined to quit.

♐ Sagittarius | Nov. 22-Dec. 21. You might have too many doubts for your own good. Being cautious is one thing, but just being negative is detrimental and prohibits progress.

♑ Capricorn | Dec. 22-Jan 20.
Don't overlook or ignore an old financial obligation to a friend just because he or she is a pal. The quickest way to end the relationship is to fail to do what you promised.

♒ Aquarius | Jan. 21-Feb 18.
If at all possible, avoid friends who tend to be pessimistic. They will have a negative effect on your outlook and end up putting a damper on your day.

♓ Pisces | Feb. 19-March 20.
Your way of doing things is likely to turn insignificant tasks into major undertakings. Do your best to plan your moves in advance.

♈ Aries | March 21-April 20.
Don't waste time worrying about things that have little chance of happening. If you want to succeed, concentrate on your goals and not on nonexistent problems.

♉ Taurus | April 21-May 21.
If things go wrong in your household today, don't try to pin the blame on any one person; view the entire picture. It usually takes more than one cause to make things go askew.

♊ Gemini | May 22-June 20.
Stick to the facts if you're trying to promote something special. The worst thing you could do would be to embellish your wares. Your deception will quickly be discovered.

♋ Cancer | June 21-July 22.
If you need to make a purchase of financial consequence today, be certain that you're getting what you want. Don't let yourself be saddled with something that's not perfect. BERNICE BEDE OSOL

Don't let one bad spot spoil the whole fruit

I really don't know how people can compare Spitzer to Weiner. The one did what men have done since the beginning of time — he went to someone who practiced the oldest profession in the world. The other behaved like a dirty old man with a raincoat.

While in the Manhattan District Attorney's office, Spitzer spent six years doggedly pursuing organized crime figures.

And as State Attorney General, he locked horns with the Gambino Mafia family. Spitzer also won a spectacular victory when he uncovered emails revealing that Merrill Lynch was riddled with financial conflicts of interest that affected its advice to customers. Merrill Lynch settled out of court for $100 million.

He became know as "The Sheriff of Wall Street." Weiner, while in Congress, wrote only one bill.

He spent more time trying to get in front of a camera then actually doing any real work. And I guess he still can't stop putting himself in front of a camera.

Red Sox hold on to first place with win over Arizona

After suffering a loss in each of his last two outings, Felix Doubront got back on the winning track as the left-hander fired seven shutout innings in a 4-0 Red Sox win over the Diamondbacks yesterday at Fenway Park. The Sox took two-of-three from the Diamondbacks over the weekend and remain a game ahead of Tampa Bay in the AL East.

Doubront allowed five hits, while striking out five to pick up his eighth win of the year.

Despite not recording a hit until there were two outs in the fourth inning, the Sox were able to get to Diamondbacks starter Brandon McCarthy. Two straight singles from Stephen Drew and Brock Holt followed by a sacrifice fly from Jacoby Ellsbury scored the first run. Two batters later Dustin Pedroia doubled to left, scoring Holt and ending the day for McCarthy.

The Red Sox are in Houston for three games starting tonight. John Lackey gets the nod in the opener with knuckleballer Steven Wright earning his first major-league start tomorrow. Wright is 2-0 with a 3.65 ERA in three appearances this season. METRO

Judgment day for A-Rod finally here

MLB. The league is supposed to hand down a suspension through the 2014 season for the Yanks' third baseman.

A-Rod is due $25 million next season, which the Yankees wouldn't have to pay while he is suspended. / GETTY IMAGES

Alex Rodriguez is rushing back to the field today, but it might be his last time playing in the majors for a while.

Multiple media reports indicate Rodriguez will be suspended through the end of the 2014 season. Announcements of his suspension, as well as suspensions of a handful of other players connected to the Biogenesis scandal, will reportedly be announced today.

Rodriguez spent the weekend rehabbing in Double-A and is expected to arrive in Chicago today to join the Yankees as they begin a series with the White Sox.

He seemed nonplussed by suspension talk following his final rehab game Saturday, in which he walked in all four plate appearances.

"I feel great. It was great to see a lot of pitches and play back-to-back days," Rodriguez told reporters. "I also got some action at third base and I'm ready to go."

Rodriguez was out until July after undergoing hip surgery in January, but strained his quad during his first rehab.

He and his representatives have said they plan to appeal any ban, and he can play while doing so.
